THE MESSAGE.

Its Reading Occupies the Morning Session of Congress.

The Paper Touches Upon All National Issues, Among Them the Nicaragua Canal and Immigration.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Immediately after the reading of the brief journal of yesterday's proceedings of the senate, Assistant Secretary Pruden was announced with a message from the president of the United States. Secretary McCook entered upon the reading of it with considerable abatement of his usual rapidity of utterance. There were nearly sixty senators in attendance. Senator Hill, of New York, one of the prominent absentees yesterday, was in his seat at the opening of the session today. Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, entered the chamber during the reading of the message. Senator Villas, of Wisconsin, and one or two other senators, held advance copies of the message.

The President's Message.

[illegible]ent Harrison's [illegible]

NOTICE

DAMAGED OR MISSING TEXT

[illegible] ject by recommending [illegible] matter of tariff revision be left to the incoming congress, although he deems it a matter for regret that the work must lie delayed at least three months, because the prospect of great tariff changes is likely to induce business inaction and diminished production. He declares, however, that if the proposed revenue tariff gives the results claimed for it—higher wages and lower prices for products—that its authors and promoters will be entitled to the highest praise.

The relations between employers and employes are next considered at some length and the president views with apprehension the result of the abolition of the tariff, if pay rolls are to be equalized in accordance with the changed conditions. He declares that the riff-raff of foreign countries, who are now creating disturbances in Europe, should not be allowed to acquire American domicile.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Our relations with other nations form the text of the next paragraph. The president notes with satisfaction that our trade and diplomatic arrangements are undisturbed. He refers to the reciprocity plan and thinks that we shall within a short period secure fully one third of the total trade with the countries of Central and South America.

The Behring sea matter is dismissed with a mere reference, probably because of the diplomatic negotiations now pending.

Speaking of relations with Canada, the president regrets that in many controversies our negotiations with Great Britain have been thwarted or retarded by unreasonable and unfriendly objections and protests from Canada. In the matter of canal tolls, in particular, our treaty rights have been flagrantly disregarded. The president declares we should withdraw our support given to Canadian railroads and steamship lines, and no longer furnish them earnings which lighten the public subsidies given them. Our relations with the South American republics are said to be good because we have insisted kindly and justly, but firmly, upon our rights.

The president repeats his previous recommendations that prompt aid be given toward the completion of the Nicaragua canal. He considers it a work of great value.

Speaking of the international monetary conference, the president says it is yet to early to predict what results may be accomplished.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY'S REPORT ANALYZED.

The report of the secretary of the treasury is next analyzed and the reduction of the public debt by about [illegible]

RUSK'S REPORT.

Referring to the report of the secretary of agriculture, the president notes with gratification the success attendant upon Mr. Rusk's efforts to secure the introduction of American meats into Europe. He gives the figures in pounds of our export of pork and beef for the last year, showing an increase of 62 per cent.

THE CHOLERA SCARE.

The president refers to the cholera scare of last summer, and reaches the conclusion that the whole subject should be taken into national control and adequate power given the executive to protect the people against plague invasions. In this connection the suggestion is made that immigration should be regulated with the greatest care.

RAILROAD SAFETY COUPLINGS.

World's fair and District of Columbia matters are next discussed briefly, after which the president renews his suggestion for the passage of a law providing for railroad safety couplings.

ELECTION METHODS.

Improper methods in elections are spoken of, and the president expresses regret that a non-partisan inquiry into the matter cannot be had with a view of maintaining the purity of the ballot and the equality of the elector. Reference is made to the lynching of colored men and such acts are characterized as a reproach to the community in which they occur.

WILL STILL PROGRESS.

The message concludes with an expression of the belief that the nation will still progress at the same rate as in the last thirty years. "There are no near frontiers to our possible development," says the president. "Retrogression would be a crime."

BURIED IN WOODLAWN.

The Funeral Procession Includes the Hearse and Nine Carriages—The Ceremonies Very Simple.

New York, Dec. 6.—The closing scene in the remarkable history of America's famous financier has been enacted. The body of Jay Gould finally rests beside that of his wife in the marble mausoleum in Woodlawn cemetery. The funeral cortege left the Gould mansion at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue at 10:30 o'clock this morning. As the hearse moved away Mr. and Mrs. George Gould emerged from the house. With them were Miss Helen Gould and Harold Gould. These four entered the first carriage. They were followed by Edwin Gould and his

John N. Girton, of Putnam county, voted for Jackson in 1826 and for Cleveland in 1892, and the votes were cast not one mile distant from each other. He has voted for every democratic candidate for president from Jackson to the present time. Recently himself and wife celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. A. Waterman will leave tomorrow for her old home in Portland, Me., where she will remain until after the holidays. Mr. Waterman left today for Chicago to be gone three weeks.

Judge Tourgee claims that Columbus was an arrant prevaricator; that he was selfish and egotistical, and that generally he was a very disreputable person. And Christopher cannot kick back.

Actors should belong to society. There only will they learn the elegance of manners needed to portray good society. No conservatory of dramatic art can teach manners.

MONETARY CONFERENCE

They Favor, Instead, the Plan of the English Delegate, Rothschild.

Brussels, Dec. 6.—It is believed that at the meeting of the international monetary conference today the Italian delegates will declare against the plan of Moritz Levi, which provides for the gradual withdrawal of all gold coin under 20f. and also of all small bank notes below a certain value and the substitution of silver. The Italian delegates favor instead the plan of the English delegate, Rothschild, for a syndicate of the nations to make annual purchases of silver to the amount of £5,000,000, America to continue her purchases as at present, purchases to be suspended in the event of silver rising above forty-three pence (eighty-six cents) per ounce.

STARVING HERSELF TO DEATH.

Curious Action of a Hunchback Immigrant at Ellis Island.

New York, Dec. 6.—A case that is exciting much interest at the immigrant station on Ellis Island is that of a pale-faced hunchback woman, who seems bent on starving herself to death. Her name is Christina Schoefferberger and she is forty-eight years old. She arrived last Wednesday and since then has steadfastly refused to take food. The employes have coaxed and advised her and have brought to her the most tempting dishes, but nothing has been able to break the indomitable desire to starve herself to death. To a sympathetic employe who spoke to her in her native tongue today, she said:

"There is no more rest or peace for me in this world and I might as well die now and here, as I must die going back over the ocean."

She is to be sent back today on the steamer Westernland by order of Colonel Weber. She came here with Hermann Knupper to act as his housekeeper. The man was allowed to land but the hunchback was barred. Her home is at Battenburg, Germany.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Funeral of Joseph O'Connor Tomorrow Afternoon—Other Deaths.

Joseph M. O'Connor, who died Sunday in this city, was born in Tuam, County Galway, Ireland, in 1837. He came to this country in an early day and was postmaster of Hicksville, Ohio, for several years. He has resided in Fort Wayne for the past thirty years. He leaves a wife and four children: Mrs. Hamell, of Sioux City, Iowa; Mrs. Charles J. Taylor, of South Bend; Mrs. John Orff and Miss Belle O'Connor, of this city. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from the family residence.

Printers Didn't Burn.

New York, Dec. 6.—A blaze started in the six story marble front building at No. 30 Reade street, this city, shortly before 5 o'clock this morning. The building was very old and particularly fitted for a bonfire. Its occupants were printers and several of the floors were used as storage places for paper. The building, No. 30, was totally destroyed, and No. 32 adjoining was partially burned. It was difficult to estimate the damage this morning, as the owners and occupants had not arrived. It is believed it will reach $150,000. Two firemen were injured by falling walls.

Nelson is Reinstated.

New York, Dec. 6.—The stallion Nelson and his owner, C. H. Nelson, were reinstated by the board of review of the National Trotting association yesterday at a meeting held at the Murray Hill hotel.

The resolution adopted by the board is as follows: "Ordered that the horse Nelson be reinstated, but inasmuch as the conduct of C. H. Nelson, since his expulsion, has not been blameless, but open to just criticism, the said C. H. Nelson, be reinstated temporarily during good behavior."

Band Challenged.

Laporte, Ind., Dec. 5.—At a recent musical festival at Valparaiso, Ind., the Ames band, of Michigan City, was awarded the championship of northern Indiana over the Laporte (Ind.) band. The latter claim a fraud and yesterday challenged the Michigan City band to a contest for $1,000 a side, and deposited $300 forfeit in the First National bank of this city. The contest is to take place between the 1st and 20th of January next, in either South Bend, Elkhart, Warsaw or Fort Wayne.

Will Try and Fast Fifty Days.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 6.—Arthur W. Wuiltmean, a young Frenchman, will start tomorrow afternoon on a fifty-day fast. The trial is to be made under the supervision of the Western Reserve university. Physicians will constantly guard the faster, who is to have no nourishment but water. He has been training for the fast during the past month, and will start in weighing 133 pounds. He expects to lose about nine pounds during his fast.

New York, Dec. 6.—David Block, manufacturer of tinware at 146 and 150 Hester street, has assigned, giving preference to the East Side bank aggregating $68,653 for money loaned. The total liabilities are $132,000, and the assets amount to about $80,030.

Supreme Court Holiday Recess.

MITCHELL IS IN JAIL.

The English Pugilist Serving His Sentence.

In Terror of a Severe Sentence He Begged to be Allowed to Serve the Sentence From Which He Appealed.

London, Dec. 6.—Charlie Mitchell, the prize fighter, has succeeded in getting into jail. On Mitchell's personal application at the Clerkenwell sessions today, Sir Peter H. Edlin consented to confirm the previous sentence, and commit Mitchell to jail for two months at hard labor with the added costs of the appeal to be paid by the prisoner. Mitchell, in terror of a severer sentence at the hands of Sir Peter, who does not like bruisers, has been going about the police courts and the jail, begging to be allowed to serve the sentence from which he had appealed. He is now gratified.

The prizes will be numerous and rich, as it is estimated that from forty to fifty thousand dollars will be given to amateur and professional winners. Hon. J. B. White, of this city, has been appointed as one of the committee to attend the above as one of the judges.

After the regular business was transacted the following program was rendered, which was well received and enjoyed by all the members present:

The meeting adjourned by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The house was crowded with guests and the evening was spent in a most pleasant manner, comical rescitations by John W. Vordermark, being heartily applauded, as was also a well rendered rescitation by Mr. and Mrs. Coverdale's little daughter. After all had partaken of a fine lap supper they bade the host and hostess hearty good night. Much of the success of the entertainment of the guests is due to the untiring efforts of Miss Florence Akers.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered to Herbert Grosvenor at his home, on Burgess street, last Saturday evening, in honor of his seventeenth birthday. The evening was spent in music, games and taffy-pulling. Late in the evening refreshments were served and the guests departed, wishing him many happy returns of the day. WANT THE CORPSE.

The "Medics" Have Reed and Want to Keep Him.

A Test Case May be Made of the Matter—The Body Demanded Today.

A dispute has arisen over the possession of the remains of the late George W. Reed, who attempted suicide in this city Saturday, and died Sunday evening.

Telegraphing all over the country failed to find the troupe which Reed was traveling for, and after the remains had been left with Undertaker Kerlin until last evening the medical college made a demand upon Coroner Kesler for their possession.

The coroner made a verbal demand for the body of Undertaker Kerlin, who refused to give them up without a written order. This was made and the body was taken off by the medical college people to their building on the corner of Superior and Fulton streets.

In the mean time Manager Simonson, of the Masonic Temple, had received a telegram from the "Actors Fund," New York city, asking that the body be claimed and given a respectable burial. Manager Simonson made a demand for the body before it was given up by the coroner to the medical college people, but his request was refused. He at once employed the firm of Hanna & Hanna to aid him in recovering the body. Manager Simonson also received the following message from J. A. Baylis, manager of the People's theater, of Chicago, which stated that Reed had a son employed in a bank at St. Louis and that deceased was a member of the Order of Elks. A demand was this morning made upon Dr. A. P. Buchman, president of the college association, for the body, but the demand was not heeded. Dr. Barnett, professor of anatomy, now has charge of the body. He said to a Sentinel representative this morning that he intended to keep it, too, if such a thing is possible, or make a test case of the matter if it comes up in the court. Vesey, Heaton and Bell are attorneys for the medical association. The law with regard to matters of this kind is found in the Revised Statutes of the State of Indiana, chapter 48, and was framed by J. K. Edgerton. The body must be claimed within twenty-four hours by a relative within the third degree, and must be kept at the college twenty-four hours before being mutilated.

Replevin suits were to be brought this afternoon for the recovery of the body by Manager Simonson, but it looks as though the "medics" would have it in spite of every one. Reed died terribly hard.

CRYSTAL WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Herbst Celebrate Theirs in Fine Style.

One of the most brilliant events of the season was the celebration of the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Herbst last evening. Never did a private residence present a more beautiful and inviting appearance than did No. 443 East Lewis street, the home of this popular couple, at 8 o'clock, when the guests began to arrive, and never were guests more heartily received and royally entertained than those who gathered there to participate in the crystal wedding festivities. Reineke's orchestra and the Philharmonic club were at hand to furnish music, and the early part of the evening was devoted to dancing, cards and vocal music. Later a fine supper was served in several courses. Following this came the presentation of the presents; then more music, card playing and dancing, until the ringing notes of a chanticleer in a near-by coop warned the happy throng of the approach of morning. The guests expressed thanks to the host and hostess for the royal entertainment as they took their departure, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Herbst many returns of their wedding anniversary. Those who helped to make the occasion a delightful one were: Messrs. and Mesdames M. Wefel, H. Cline, Mangelsdorf, J. F. Miller, J. Strodel, W. Hegeman, J. Longfield, H. Bullerman, Schemeides, Zimmerly, Lenfesty, W. Waltemath, Dr. J. E. Miller, Messrs. H. Taylor, G. Muhler, T. Lau, F. Lepper, L. Waltemath, F. Amenn, O. Wiegand, J. Helling, F. Helling, Misses Rosa and Anna Wise, Z. Hoffman, Lizzie, Clara and Mina Busse, Carrie Nestel, Mamie Bauer, Regina and Lizzie Wiegand and Lizzie Bockeloch.

AFTER THE CONVENTION.

At the First Presbyterian church lecture room yesterday evening a very important meeting of the local union of the Christian Endeavorers of this city was held. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Boggs and George Darker was elected secretary pro. tem, in the absence of the regular secretary. Mr. E. F. Yarnelle president of the union, in an earnest speech thanked the different members for their active and efficient work during the convention. He said the large body of delegates all returned home well pleased and carrying with them happy recollections of our people and city. Miss Jennie Cochran, chairman of the entertainment committee, was presented by the union with a handsomely framed picture of Dr. Clark, father of the society. C. W. Henderson, treasurer, reported that the expenses of the convention were six hundred and seven dollars, and that he had on hand seven hundred and fifty-nine dollars. A number of small bills had not been sent in, which perhaps will swell the expense account to six hundred and fifty dollars. It was voted to present the Westminster seminary with fifty dollars for their kindness in keeping forty delegates and allowing their building to be used as state headquarters. It was also voted to send fifty dollars to the treasurer of the state association to pay amount pledged by the union for state work. The meeting was closed by prayer by Rev. Zartman. The next meeting of the local union will be held at the Baptist church on the 9th day of next January.

MOWRER INDICTED.

He is Charged With Forging Receipts.

The Grand Jury Makes Its Returns and Adjourns—Suit for Damages—Notes.

The grand jury this morning completed its deliberations and filed its report with the county clerk. They first visited the county infirmary and county jail and found them in first-class condition. The officers are very reticent about certain indictments returned but The Sentinel has it from the best of authority that one of them is against August Mowrer, ex-county treasurer, the charge being forgery.

Mr. Mowrer is now in Montana and it is probable that he will not be arrested unless he should return to this county. The forgeries committed by him are well known to the public—raising road receipts when he was county treasurer.

An indictment was returned against John Phillips charging him with the murder of the negro, "Bud" Green. There may have been other indictments, but they were not given out for publication.

William Miller brings suit in the circuit court against the Brookside Farm company for $2,000 damages. He says that he purchased a fine stallion from the company, paying for it $250. The pedigree of the animal as published in the stock book Mr. Miller now claims was not correct and he asks for the above damages. Henry Colerick and C. W. Edsall are Mr. Miller's attorneys.

Chas. S. Bash brings suit against Taylor university and the trustees of Fort Wayne college for $6,000, due on note and mortgage. Zollars & Calvert are attorneys for plaintiff.

The Hamilton National bank sues Philip Steib et al. for $100 on note. W. P. Breen attorney.

Christian W. Bruns sues Jacob M. Kayser for $200 on note. Vesey & Heaton attorneys.

The county commissioners this morning appointed the firm of Morris, Bell, Barrett & Morris county attorneys. Heretofore Mr. Bell has been the attorney. Other miscellaneous business was transacted.

The jury in the case against David Anderson for picking the pockets of John Brannon failed to agree. They were out almost twenty hours.

Samuel Robecker, was granted a divorce from Mattie Robecker, the charges being cruelty, incompatibility of temper, etc.

The evidence is not all in in the case of McMahon vs. Bailey.

There were four drunks in police court this morning, William Johnson, Frank Williams, William Brown and William Finney. They were all arrested by Officer Limecooley. Each was fined $1 and costs.

It was learned at police headquarters this morning that the cause of Patrick O'Ryan's discharge from the police force was drunkenness while on duty. Ryan has been in the habit of taking a quiet nip at a convenient drug store in Bloomingdale, hence his discharge.

The police force will be metropolitan. It is thought that the change will be no more expensive than the present system. There will be three commissioners at $50 per month and a board of public works. The mayor will appoint the city engineer and thus the constant changing of city grades will be done away with somewhat. The proposed charter would be about like the present charter of Indianapolis.

A Philadelphia paper objects to the census classification of dressmaking and millinery as manufactures. If the tranformation of half a dollar's worth of velvet, a dollar's worth of lace, and three cents' worth of wire into a nineteen-dollar bonnet is not manufacturing, what is it?—high art?

The head-dresses of 1770 were so large that ladies going to balls were forced, to save their headgear, to kneel on the floors of their carriages. By a simple change of location, as far as kneeling goes, the ladies of 1892 might practice a little in the theaters.

It seems ungracious at this time for writers to be discussing the claims of any other voyager than Columbus to the first discovery of America. It is to his memory that the world pays homage and no speculative writer can change the programme. Hurrah for Columbus!

A well-dressed young man who makes a practice of loafing in front of Chicago theaters and addressing women who pass was fined $100 for that offense. Apparently his more serious offense—that of remaining on the earth—was condoned.

A curious circumstance in connection with the recent epidemic of cholera at Hamburg was the departure of all the birds from the city only a few days prior to the outbreak.

DRANK VITROL.

George Shearer Swallows a Cupful by Mistake.

He Suffers Great Pain and Is Badly Bloated—Too Early to Determine the Result Yet.

George Shearer, a laborer for the Pennsylvania company, and boarding at Mr. Mills' boarding house, on Simon street, by mistake this morning drank a glass of solution containing blue vitrol, which some one had prepared for the battery at the east yards telegraph office, and left in a glass by the water pail in the office. Dr. John Ogle was called, who found the patient suffering great pain and very much bloated. His case is very serious indeed. At last accounts he was resting easy, but it is too early yet to learn just what the effects of the poison will be.

WHO WILL BE INVITED.

Meeting of the Invitation Committee of the Charity Ball.

The invitation committee of the Charity Ball, to be held in this city on the 29th inst., held an important meeting yesterday afternoon and issued the following information for the benefit of the public:

After much thought as to the best manner of issuing invitations it has been decided to adopt the method of last year. Notes of invitation signed by members of the committee will be sent out as soon as the lists can be prepared. This work will be done with great care and every precaution taken to make the list complete. With the utmost watchfulness omissions will occur and mistakes creep in. Indeed, so overwhelmed were the committee of last year with the number of mistakes that there were grave doubts as to the advisability of attempting again [illegible] of invitation. It is the [illegible] the committee to put upon the [illegible] name of every one whom the [illegible] reason to think is interested in the work of the relief union. If by [illegible] take any who feel such interest fail to receive an invitation, their regret will not equal that of the committee. It is hoped there will be a prompt and generous response to this appeal in behalf of the poor and needy of our city. With the beginning of cold weather calls for help are increasing. Experience has shown that better and more effective charitable work is done by organized than by individual effort. The Relief union with its many-sided methods of non-sectarian charity, appeals earnestly to the public for means of carrying on its work. The reception and ball will not only add to the treasury of the society, but will awaken an interest in the benevolent work of the association of all who by their presence or substantial aid contribute to its success. If any, willing to help the members in their efforts to raise sorely needed funds in this manner, fails to receive an invitation, the committee will take it as a personal kindness to have their attention directed to such failure. There are so many opportunities for omission, mistake and losses that some must occur, but they will be failures of the letter and not of the spirit.

WHO'S THE HEAVIEST?

Big Eliza Claims She is Heavier Than Big Nell.

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 6, 1892.

Proprietor Evening Sentinel, Fort Wayne, Ind.:

Mr. Proprietor:—Will you please tell the good folks of your city that Mr. Geary is making a big mistake when he advertises any woman bigger than me. I understand that he says that Big Nell is heavier than I am. I will wager $100 that she don't weigh one pound more than I do, and if Mr. Geary thinks Big Nell is heavier than I am, I will come to your city and let you weigh us both. Respectfully,

Big Eliza,
Heaviest Woman Alive.

A large party of merrymakers assembled at the home of Miss Ada Tourgee, at No. 60 Green street, and gave her a very delightful surprise party. Games and music were the chief amusement of the evening. An elegant luncheon was served about midnight, to which all did ample justice. Those present were: Misses Pratt, Wiggins, Lizzie and Bessie Aldrich, Pike, Alta and Ada Warrick, Nora Lincoln, Etta Lincoln, Gilbert, Ponce, Fry, Stoneburner, Cleveland, Carter; Mrs. Mick, Mrs. Rogers, and Messrs. Cutter, Killen, Minnich, Shreaves, Gilbert, Mick, Wheeler, Rogers, Ponsot, Zeis, Wm. Cutter.

Miss Ida Bastian pleasently entertained a few friends at her east side home Sunday evening. Those present were the Misses Clara List, Paula Duemling, Emma Bischoff, Bertha Griebel, Martha Sauer, Sophie Zucher, Ida Bastian and Ida List. Games were played and at 9 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served.

THE MESSAGE.

The Paper Touches Upon All National Issues, Among Them the Nicaragua Canal and Immigration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Immediately after the reading of the brief journal of yesterday's proceedings of the senate, Assistant Secretary Pruden was announced with a message from the president of the United States. Secretary McCook entered upon the reading of it with considerable abatement of his usual rapidity of utterance. There were nearly sixty senators in attendance. Senator Hill, of New York, one of the prominent absentees yesterday, was in his seat at the opening of the session today. Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, entered the chamber during the reading of the message. Senator Villas, of Wisconsin, and one or two other senators, held advance copies of the message.

The President's Message.

President Harrison's message says: In submitting my annual message to congress, I have great satisfaction in being able to say the general conditions affecting the commercial and industrial interests of the United States are in the highest degree favorable. A comparison will, I believe, show a high degree of prosperity and general diffusion of comforts of life never before enjoyed by our people. The total wealth of the country in 1890 amounted to $62,610,000,000, an increase of 287 per cent. since 1860. The official returns of the eleventh census for seventy-five leading cities show an increase over the previous decade in capital employed of $1[illegible]745,601; in value of product, $2[illegible]236,106; in wages earned, $677,943,[illegible], and in number of wage carners employed, 856,029. The wage earnings show not only an increased aggregate but an increased per capita of 41.71 per cent.

TOUCHES THE TARIFF.

The president, while expressly disclaiming any intention to reargue the tariff question, goes on at great length to quote from various reports, showing the establishment of new industries. He deals with the various trades in detail, and shows from the treasury reports, for instance, that there were on September 30 last, thirty-two companies in the country manufacturing tin and terne plates, and fourteen companies building new works for such manufacture. He gives the estimated investments at the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, if the existing conditions had continued, and notes that the actual production for the quarter ending September 30 last, was 10,952,725 pounds.

WORK ABUNDANT AND WAGES HIGH.

The president quotes from the noted report of Labor Commissioner Peck, of New York, and from the Massachusetts and other reports, and reaches the conclusion that never in our history was work so abundant or wages so high, whether measured by currency in which they are paid for, or in their power to supply the necessaries and comforts of life.

"If any are discontented with their state here," continues the president, "they should remember that there is no other country in the world where such conditions would not be accepted as highly prosperous. I believe the protective system has been a mighty instrument for the development of our national wealth and a most powerful agency of protecting the homes of our workingmen from the invasion of want. But the result of the recent election must be accepted as having introduced a new policy. We must assume that the present tariff is to be repealed, and that there will be substituted for it a tariff constructed solely with reference to revenue."

RECOMMENDS REVISION.

The president takes leave of the subject by recommending that the matter of tariff revision be left to the incoming congress, although he deems it a matter for regret that the work must lie delayed at least three months, because the prospect of great tariff changes is likely to induce business inaction and diminished production. He declares, however, that if the proposed revenue tariff gives the results claimed for it—higher wages and lower prices for products—that its authors and promoters will be entitled to the highest praise.

The relations between employers' and employes are next considered at some length and the president views with apprehension the result of the abolition of the tariff, if pay rolls are to be equalized in accordance with the changed conditions. He declares that the riff-raff of foreign countries, who are now creating disturbances in Europe, should not be allowed to acquire American domicile.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Our relations with other nations form the text of the next paragraph. The president notes with satisfaction that our trade and diplomatic arrangements are undisturbed. He refers to the reciprocity plan and thinks that we shall within a short period secure fully one third of the total trade with the countries of Central and South America.

The Behring sea matter is dismissed with a mere reference, probably because of the diplomatic negotiations now pending.

Speaking of relations with Canada, the president regrets that in many controversies our negotiations with Great Britain have been thwarted or retarded by unreasonable and unfriendly objections and protests from Canada. In the matter of canal tolls, in particular, our treaty rights have been flagrantly disregarded. The president declares we should withdraw our support given to Canadian railroads and steamship lines, and no longer furnish them earnings which lighten the public subsidies given them. Our relations with the South American republics are said to be good because we have insisted kindly and justly, but firmly, upon our rights.

The president repeats his previous recommendations that prompt aid be given toward the completion of the Nicaragua canal. He considers it a work of great value.

Speaking of the international monetary conference, the president says it is yet to early to predict what results may be accomplished.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY'S REPORT ANALYZED.

The report of the secretary of the treasury is next analyzed and the reduction of the public debt by about $260,000,000 is noted. The president also calls attention to the fact that under the existing tariff up to December 1 about $93,000,000 which would have been collected upon imported sugars under the old law, has gone into the pockets of the people and not into the public treasury as before.

OTHER CABINET OFFICERS' REPORTS.

The report of the secretary of war is taken up and some important recommendations made. The reports of the attorney general and the postmaster general are also referred to. The increase in the postal revenue during the last year is nearly $5,000,000. The number of postoffices has increased 2,790. The president urges a continuance of the policy of ocean mail subsidies. He speaks at considerable length on the subject of our merchant marine and then takes up the report of the secretary of the navy. Great progress has been made, he says, in the construction of our new navy. During the current year ten war vessels and three tugs have been launched and several others are under contract. He says that our new armor processes will give our ships higher resisting power than is found on the war vessels of any other nation. He recommends the encouragement of the naval militia. The work of the interior department, he says, has been more burdensome than ever before, owing to the disability pension law, the taking of the eleventh census and the opening of vast tracts of Indian lands to settlement.

THE LAND OFFICE.

The work of the general land office, which was badly in arrears, has been brought well up to date. The allottment of lands to Indians in severalty has been extensive and the work of the Indian bureau is believed to have been satisfactory as a whole. When complaints have been made against Indian agents the president has always been prompt to investigate, and the removal of the offender has resulted when the charges have been well founded.

Referring to his non-approval of the deed releasing the Cheyenne and Arraphoe reservation, which he made the subject of a special message, the president says his opinion is unchanged and that he shall not approve the deed until both houses of congress have acted upon the subject.

PENSIONS.

The report of the commissioner of pensions is given extended consideration. The passage of the disability bill, he says, has largely increased the annual disbursements to veterans, and a deficiency of $10,058,621 must be provided for at this session of congress. The estimate for pensions of this fiscal year is $165,000,000. The president urges that the care of disabled veterans is a matter of national concern and duty, and refers with pleasure to the welcome extended to the grand army at its last reunion by the people of the District of Columbia.

RUSK'S REPORT.

Referring to the report of the secretary of agriculture, the president notes with gratification the success attendant upon Mr. Rusk's efforts to secure the introduction of American meats into Europe. He gives the figures in pounds of our export of pork and beef for the last year, showing an increase of 62 per cent.

THE CHOLERA SCARE.

The president refers to the cholera scare of last summer, and reaches the conclusion that the whole subject should be taken into national control and adequate power given the executive to protect the people against plague invasions. In this connection the suggestion is made that immigration should be regulated with the greatest care.

RAILROAD SAFETY COUPLINGS.

World's fair and District of Columbia matters are next discussed briefly, after which the president renews his suggestion for the passage of a law providing for railroad safety couplings.

ELECTION METHODS.

Improper methods in elections are spoken of, and the president expresses regret that a non-partisan inquiry into the matter cannot be had with a view of maintaining the purity of the ballot and the equality of the elector. Reference is made to the lynching of colored men and such acts are characterized as a reproach to the community in which they occur.

WILL STILL PROGRESS.

The message concludes with an expression of the belief that the nation will still progress at the same rate as in the last thirty years. "There are no near frontiers to our possible development," says the president. "Retrogression would be a crime."

BURIED IN WOODLAWN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The closing scene in the remarkable history of America's famous financier has been enacted. The body of Jay Gould finally rests beside that of his wife in the marble mausoleum in Woodlawn cemetery. The funeral cortege left the Gould mansion at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue at 10:30 o'clock this morning. As the hearse moved away Mr. and Mrs. George Gould emerged from the house. With them were Miss Helen Gould and Harold Gould. These four entered the first carriage. They were followed by Edwin Gould and his wife and Howard and Annie Gould, who took seats in the second carriage. The third carriage was occupied by Abram Gould, the dead financier's brother, and Frank Gould. Mrs. Northrup and her daughter entered the next carriage, followed by Mrs. D. Palen and Mrs. Northrup's two sons, who occupied the fifth conveyance. The remaining carriages—there were nine in all—were occupied by near friends of the family and a few of Mr. Gould's business associates. After all the carriages had been filled, Chancellor McCracken and Rev. Dr. Terry drove up to the head of the line and took a place in front of the hearse. In this order the procession left the house and proceeded up Fifth avenue. Shortly after 12:30 o'clock the hearse passed under the west entrance to Woodlawn cemetery and in a few minutes the carriages were lined up facing the Gould mausoleum, and the body of the great financier was carefully laid away.

STATE NEWS.

Miss Clara Paxon, twenty years old, a beautiful girl of Richmond, is looked upon as hopelessly insane, the result of religious excitement during the Woodworth revival four years ago.

Susie Allen, six years old, daughter of Mrs. Barry Allen, widow, of Logansport, criminally assaulted some three weeks ago by Charles Emsley, is dead. Emsley is in jail and stoutly maintains his innocence.

Several months ago Katie Hood, a girl of Connersville, was murdered, and her body was found floating in the canal reservoir. It is now claimed that her spirit can be seen floating over the water almost nightly, and there is great alarm among the superstitious.

Solomon Barnhart, of Waterloo, while unloading straw, fell from a wagon to the ground, breaking his neck and causing instant death. It is supposed that he had an attack of heart trouble, which caused the fall. He was a prominent member of the community.

Ben Burdette, in jail at Kokomo for stealing Thanksgiving turkeys, and who is accused of attempting to wreck a passenger train, tried to shuffle off by drinking a bottle of medicine prescribed for a fellow prisoner. He gave his system a terrible jolt, but will live.

Logansport chess lovers have contributed $300 toward the entertainment of Herr E. Lasker and Jackson W. Showalter during the chess tournament which begins in that city on the 13th inst. Visitors are expected from Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Kentucky, Missouri and Canada.

James L. Gibson, near Muncie, found a copper colored stone of peculiar formation lying in his chicken coop, and beside it a dead chicken, which the stone had evidently struck in its descent. He claims that the fragment was a piece of the comet, which was wandering around loose some days ago. It weighs six ounces.

John N. Girton, of Putnam county, voted for Jackson in 1826 and for Cleveland in 1892, and the votes were cast not one mile distant from each other. He has voted for every democratic candidate for president from Jackson to the present time. Recently himself and wife celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

PRINCE MALATESTA, who participated with the late Napoleon, the third, when he was an adventurer and pretender in an attempted revolution against the papal authority in 1832 has died as a trapist monk at Aiguebelle, having some time ago sought refuge in the monastery.

Mrs. A. Waterman will leave tomorrow for her old home in Portland, Me., where she will remain until after the holidays. Mr. Waterman left today for Chicago to be gone three weeks.

MONETARY CONFERENCE

They Favor, Instead, the Plan of the English Delegate, Rothschild.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 6.—It is believed that at the meeting of the international monetary conference today the Italian delegates will declare against the plan of Moritz Levi, which provides for the gradual withdrawal of all gold coin under 20f. and also of all small bank notes below a certain value and the substitution of silver. The Italian delegates favor instead the plan of the English delegate, Rothschild, for a syndicate of the nations to make annual purchases of silver to the amount of £5,000,000, America to continue her purchases as at present, purchases to be suspended in the event of silver rising above forty-three pence (eighty-six cents) per ounce.

STARVING HERSELF TO DEATH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A case that is exciting much interest at the immigrant station on Ellis Island is that of a pale-faced hunchback woman, who seems bent on starving herself to death. Her name is Christina Schoefferberger and she is forty-eight years old. She arrived last Wednesday and since then has steadfastly refused to take food. The employes have coaxed and advised her and have brought to her the most tempting dishes, but nothing has been able to break the indomitable desire to starve herself to death. To a sympathetic employe who spoke to her in her native tongue today, she said:

"There is no more rest or peace for me in this world and I might as well die now and here, as I must die going back over the ocean."

She is to be sent back today on the steamer Westernland by order of Colonel Weber. She came here with Hermann Knupper to act as his housekeeper. The man was allowed to land but the hunchback was barred. Her home is at Battenburg, Germany.

Printers Didn't Burn.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A blaze started in the six story marble front building at No. 30 Reade street, this city, shortly before 5 o'clock this morning. The building was very old and particularly fitted for a bonfire. Its occupants were printers and several of the floors were used as storage places for paper. The building, No. 30, was totally destroyed, and No. 32 adjoining was partially burned. It was difficult to estimate the damage this morning, as the owners and occupants had not arrived. It is believed it will reach $150,000. Two firemen were injured by falling walls.

Nelson is Reinstated.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The stallion Nelson and his owner, C. H. Nelson, were reinstated by the board of review of the National Trotting association yesterday at a meeting held at the Murray Hill hotel.

The resolution adopted by the board is as follows: "Ordered that the horse Nelson be reinstated, but inasmuch as the conduct of C. H. Nelson, since his expulsion, has not been blameless, but open to just criticism, the said C. H. Nelson, be reinstated temporarily during good behavior."

WANT THE CORPSE.

The "Medics" Have Reed and Want to Keep Him.

A Test Case May be Made of the Matter—The Body Demanded Today.

A dispute has arisen over the possession of the remains of the late George W. Reed, who attempted suicide in this city Saturday, and died Sunday evening.

Telegraphing all over the country failed to find the troupe which Reed was traveling for, and after the remains had been left with Undertaker Kerlin until last evening the medical college made a demand upon Coroner Kesler for their possession.

The coroner made a verbal demand for the body of Undertaker Kerlin, who refused to give them up without a written order. This was made and the body was taken off by the medical college people to their building on the corner of Superior and Fulton streets.

In the mean time Manager Simonson, of the Masonic Temple, had received a telegram from the "Actors Fund," New York city, asking that the body be claimed and given a respectable burial. Manager Simonson made a demand for the body before it was given up by the coroner to the medical college people, but his request was refused. He at once employed the firm of Hanna & Hanna to aid him in recovering the body. Manager Simonson also received the following message from J. A. Baylis, manager of the People's theater, of Chicago, which stated that Reed had a son employed in a bank at St. Louis and that deceased was a member of the Order of Elks. A demand was this morning made upon Dr. A. P. Buchman, president of the college association, for the body, but the demand was not heeded. Dr. Barnett, professor of anatomy, now has charge of the body. He said to a SENTINEL representative this morning that he intended to keep it, too, if such a thing is possible, or make a test case of the matter if it comes up in the court. Vesey, Heaton and Bell are attorneys for the medical association. The law with regard to matters of this kind is found in the Revised Statutes of the State of Indiana, chapter 48, and was framed by J. K. Edgerton. The body must be claimed within twenty-four hours by a relative within the third degree, and must be kept at the college twenty-four hours before being mutilated.

Replevin suits were to be brought this afternoon for the recovery of the body by Manager Simonson, but it looks as though the "medics" would have it in spite of every one. Reed died terribly hard.

CRYSTAL WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Herbst Celebrate Theirs in Fine Style.

One of the most brilliant events of the season was the celebration of the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Herbst last evening. Never did a private residence present a more beautiful and inviting appearance than did No. 443 East Lewis street, the home of this popular couple, at 8 o'clock, when the guests began to arrive, and never were guests more heartily received and royally entertained than those who gathered there to participate in the crystal wedding festivities. Reinske's orchestra and the Philharmonic club were at hand to furnish music, and the early part of the evening was devoted to dancing, cards and vocal music. Later a fine supper was served in several courses. Following this came the presentation of the presents; then more music, card playing and dancing, until the ringing notes of a chanticleer in a near-by coop warned the happy throng of the approach of morning. The guests expressed thanks to the host and hostess for the royal entertainment as they took their departure, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Herbst many returns of their wedding anniversary. Those who helped to make the occasion a delightful one were: Messrs. and Mesdames M. Wefel, H. Cline, Mangelsdoof, J. F. Miller, J. Strodel, W. Hegeman, J. Longfield, H. Bullerman, Schemeides, Zimmerly, Lenfesty, W. Waltemath, Dr. J. E. Miller, Messrs. H. Taylor, G. Muhler, T. Lau, F. Lepper, L. Waltemath, F. Amenn, O. Wiegand, J. Helling, F. Helling, Misses Rosa and Anna Wise, Z. Hoffman, Lizzie, Clara and Mina Busse, Carrie Nestel, Mamie Bauer, Regina and Lizzie Wiegand and Lizzie Bockeloch.

AFTER THE CONVENTION.

At the First Presbyterian church lecture room yesterday evening a very important meeting of the local union of the Christian Endeavorers of this city was held. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Boggs and George Darker was elected secretary pro. tem, in the absence of the regular secretary. Mr. E. F. Yarnelle president of the union, in an earnest speech thanked the different members for their active and efficient work during the convention. He said the large body of delegates all returned home well pleased and carrying with them happy recollections of our people and city. Miss Jennie Cochran, chairman of the entertainment committee, was presented by the union with a handsomely framed picture of Dr. Clark, father of the society. C. W. Henderson, treasurer, reported that the expenses of the convention were six hundred and seven dollars, and that he had on hand seven hundred and fifty-nine dollars. A number of small bills had not been sent in, which perhaps will swell the expense account to six hundred and fifty dollars. It was voted to present the Westminster seminary with fifty dollars for their kindness in keeping forty delegates and allowing their building to be used as state headquarters. It was also voted to send fifty dollars to the treasurer of the state association to pay amount pledged by the union for state work. The meeting was closed by prayer by Rev. Zartman. The next meeting of the local union will be held at the Baptist church on the 9th day of next January.

MOWRER INDICTED.

He is Charged With Forging Receipts.

The grand jury this morning completed its deliberations and filed its report with the county clerk. They first visited the county infirmary and county jail and found them in first-class condition. The officers are very reticent about certain indictments returned, but THE SENTINEL has it from the best of authority that one of them is against August Mowrer, ex-county treasurer, the charge being forgery.

Mr. Mowrer is now in Montana and it is probable that he will not be arrested unless he should return to this county. The forgeries committed by him are well known to the public—raising road receipts when he was county treasurer.

An indictment was returned against John Phillips charging him with the murder of the negro, "Bud" Green. There may have been other indictments, but they were not given out for publication.

William Miller brings suit in the circuit court against the Brookside Farm company for $2,000 damages. He says that he purchased a fine stallion from the company, paying for it $250. The pedigree of the animal as published in the stock book Mr. Miller now claims was not correct and he asks for the above damages. Henry Colerick and C. W. Edsall are Mr. Miller's attorneys.

Chas. S. Bash brings suit against Taylor university and the trustees of Fort Wayne college for $6,000, due on note and mortgage. Zollars & Calvert are attorneys for plaintiff.

The Hamilton National bank sues Philip Steib et al. for $100 on note. W. P. Breen attorney.

Christian W. Bruns sues Jacob M. Kayser for $200 on note. Vesey & Heaton attorneys.

The county commissioners this morning appointed the firm of Morris, Bell, Barrett & Morris county attorneys. Heretofore Mr. Bell has been the attorney. Other miscellaneous business was transacted.

The jury in the case against David Anderson for picking the pockets of John Brannon failed to agree. They were out almost twenty hours.

Samuel Robecker, was granted a divorce from Mattie Robecker, the charges being cruelty, incompatibility of temper, etc.

The evidence is not all in in the case of McMahon vs. Bailey.

There were four drunks in police court this morning, William Johnson, Frank Williams, William Brown and William Finney. They were all arrested by Officer Limecooley. Each was fined $1 and costs.

It was learned at police headquarters this morning that the cause of Patrick O'Ryan's discharge from the police force was drunkenness while on duty. Ryan has been in the habit of taking a quiet nip at a convenient drug store in Bloomingdale, hence his discharge.

The police force will be metropolitan. It is thought that the change will be no more expensive than the present system. There will be three commissioners at $50 per month and a board of public works. The mayor will appoint the city engineer and thus the constant changing of city grades will be done away with somewhat. The proposed charter would be about like the present charter of Indianapolis.

A PHILADELPHIA paper objects to the census classification of dressmaking and millinery as manufactures. If the tranformation of half a dollar's worth of velvet, a dollar's worth of lace, and three cents' worth of wire into a nineteen-dollar bonnet is not manufacturing, what is it?—high art?

THE head-dresses of 1770 were so large that ladies going to balls were forced, to save their headgear, to kneel on the floors of their carriages. By a simple change of location, as far as kneeling goes, the ladies of 1892 might practice a little in the theaters.

IT seems ungracious at this time for writers to be discussing the claims of any other voyager than Columbus to the first discovery of America. It is to his memory that the world pays homage and no speculative writer can change the programme. Hurrah for Columbus!

A WELL-DRESSED young man who makes a practice of loafing in front of Chicago theaters and addressing women who pass was fined $100 for that offense. Apparently his more serious offense—that of remaining on the earth—was condoned.

A CURIOUS circumstance in connection with the recent epidemic of cholera at Hamburg was the departure of all the birds from the city only a few days prior to the outbreak.

DRANK VITROL.

George Shearer Swallows a Cupful by Mistake.

He Suffers Great Pain and Is Badly Bloated—Too Early to Determine the Result Yet.

George Shearer, a laborer for the Pennsylvania company, and boarding at Mr. Mills' boarding house, on Simon street, by mistake this morning drank a glass of solution containing blue vitrol, which some one had prepared for the battery at the east yards telegraph office, and left in a glass by the water pail in the office. Dr. John Ogle was called, who found the patient suffering great pain and very much bloated. His case is very serious indeed. At last accounts he was resting easy, but it is too early yet to learn just what the effects of the poison will be.

WHO WILL BE INVITED.

The invitation committee of the Charity Ball, to be held in this city on the 29th inst., held an important meeting yesterday afternoon and issued the following information for the benefit of the public:

After much thought as to the best manner of issuing invitations it has been decided to adopt the method of last year. Notes of invitation signed by members of the committee will be sent out as soon as the lists can be prepared. This work will be done with great care and every precaution taken to make the list complete. With the utmost watchfulness omissions will occur and mistakes creep in. Indeed, so overwhelmed were the committee of last year with the number of mistakes that there were grave doubts as to the advisability of attempting again [illegible] manner of invitation. It is the [illegible] the committee to put upon t[illegible] name of every one whom t[illegible] reason to think is interested in the work of the relief union. If by [illegible] take any who feel such interest fail to receive an invitation, their regret will not equal that of the committee. It is hoped there will be a prompt and generous response to this appeal in behalf of the poor and needy of our city. With the beginning of cold weather calls for help are increasing. Experience has shown that better and more effective charitable work is done by organized than by individual effort. The Relief union with its many-sided methods of non-sectarian charity, appeals earnestly to the public for means of carrying on its work. The reception and ball will not only add to the treasury of the society, but will awaken an interest in the benevolent work of the association of all who by their presence or substantial aid contribute to its success. If any, willing to help the members in their efforts to raise sorely needed funds in this manner, fails to receive an invitation, the committee will take it as a personal kindness to have their attention directed to such failure. There are so many opportunities for omission, mistake and losses that some must occur, but they will be failures of the letter and not of the spirit.

WHO'S THE HEAVIEST?

The following letter was received at THE SENTINEL office this morning:

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 6, 1892.

Proprietor Evening Sentinel, Fort Wayne, Ind.:

MR. PROPRIETOR:—Will you please tell the good folks of your city that Mr. Geary is making a big mistake when he advertises any woman bigger than me. I understand that he says that Big Nell is heavier than I am. I will wager $100 that she don't weigh one pound more than I do, and if Mr. Geary thinks Big Nell is heavier than I am, I will come to your city and let you weigh us both. Respectfully,

BIG ELIZA,

Heaviest Woman Alive.

THE END AT LAST.

He and Others Might Expect It.

Mr Charles R. Baird, the well known business and society man, fell overcome by nervous exhaustion, while about to keep a social engagement last night.—Morning Paper.

Later information develops the fact that he had been under a continuous nervous strain in his business for some time and his prostration was simply the climax—the result of his overwork.

So it is with thousands. They work, using up their nerve force until they find themselves excessively nervous, powers of mind and thought weakened, nerves unstrung and unsteady, nights sleepless and unrefreshing, bodies tired and exhausted. There will often be confused mind, dim vision, loss of memory, dull feeling head, dizziness, despondency, strange sensations, trembling on excitement, feeling of anxiety, poor blood, indigestion, bowels constipated, liver and kidneys out of order.

If you have these symptoms you are in a bad way, and should use immediately that great restorer of nerve force and power, the invigorator and strengthener of brain and nerves, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists, $1.

"I take great pleasure in testifying to the wonderful curative virtues of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I suffered torture from pains in my limbs and back and my kidneys were in an awful condition. I could not sleep well and felt very miserable. My stomach was very weak and I could not enjoy my food. Now all is changed. I have no pain, can eat and sleep naturally and am entirely cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy."

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S last message was read in congress today and THE SENTINEL gives it elsewhere as received by wire. It is boiled down, though everything is carefully covered. It is an able message and should be read by all our readers.

THE Vincennes Sun announces upon authority that Hon. Mason J. Niblack is not an applicant for the office of United States district attorney. It is also stated that Col. C. C. Matson does not seek the office of pension agent, and that Col. I. B. McDonald may possibly reach out for that plum.—South Bend Times.

THERE is a good deal of solemn truth in the observation of the Cincinnati Post that "civil service reform is formally indorsed by all the parties and by nearly all the individuals in the country. Still it is doubtful if there was ever a policy in force that ever was so thoroughly despised by the great majority. This is due to the reformers, and not to the reform. First, they are scolds. That makes the masses tired. Second, they are treacherous. That makes every class hate them. Third, they show infirmities themselves when tried. That kills faith in them and throws doubt on their theories."

A RESIDENT of the Indiana oil field country says the field, so far, is confined to the counties of Adams, Blackford and Jay, but it's a fine one and there are scores of men getting rich off it. The Lima, Ohio, and Chicago pipe line runs through the field, and the oil is piped direct to Chicago from the wells. There are farmers in that country whose income from wells on their land amounts to from $50 to $100 a day. They receive a royalty of one sixth from the oil companies, and all they have to do is to go to the banks regularly and draw what is coming to them. The biggest wells are near Montpelier, in Blackford county, and Camden in Jay county.

A PROMINENT physician says the great trouble with the sanitary condition of Fort Wayne at present is that the front part of the house and yard is in excellent shape while the back part is very filthy. He says our city never will be in a good healthy condition until we have better alleys. When it rains the water stands in pools in the muddy alleys all over our city, and from these pools the germs of disease come. What we want, especially where sewers have been completed, is good brick alleys. They are not very expensive, and if properly cared for and looked after will last many years. He also adds that we must have a public inspector of plumbing, the same as other cities. Poor plumbing has caused much sickness in our city and will continue to do so until we have a competent inspector, who shall be paid by the city, and whose duty it will be to inspect every case of plumbing in every house in the city.

SENATOR CHANDLER has prepared for reference to the joint committee of immigration, of which he is chairman, a bill which will be introduced at the earliest possible moment and pushed to its passage. The opinion of the committee on the bill is said to be practically unanimous. It provides, first, that admission of alien immigrants for settlement or residence now allowed to enter the United States under the act of March 30, 1881, and immigration acts, is hereby suspended and prohibited, for and during the term of one year, from March 1, of 1893, except as to immigrants coming from the countries of North and South America. Second, it shall be the duty of the secretary of the treasury to make and issue rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this act, which shall not hinder nor delay the admission of returning American citizens or of aliens coming in as visitors or for the temporary sojourn in the United States. Third, any alien immigrant entering the United States contrary to the provisions of this act shall be subject to all penalties provided against excluded immigrants by existing laws and shall in accordance with such laws be sent back to the country from which he came, and all persons who shall bring or aid in bringing any such alien immigrant into the United States shall be subject to the penalties now by law provided for bringing or aiding in bringing excluded immigrants.

An Entailed Estate.

There is one piece of real estate in Maine which is entailed so far as such property can be in this country. It is known, says an eastern exchange, as Dundee and is situated in the town of Limington. In 1668 Francis Small bought it, with other lands, from the Indians, the original deed being yet preserved in the family. Having descended from father to son for several generations, Humphrey Small purchased a small section of his father's land, which he named Dundee, and he stoutly affirmed that Dundee should remain in the ownership of the Smalls forever, and that it should be allowed to become a forest again. Twice he was offered more than double its value, but although hard pressed for money he remained true to his declaration. On the 26th of November this property had been in possession of the family two hundred and twenty-four years, and to commemorate this, and also to celebrate the centennial of Limington, which was organized in 1792, the family had a reunion and picnic. Next year they propose to celebrate their two hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary with a larger gathering, to include all of the Small family that can be gathered together.

An Unjust Decree.

There are many ways to facilitate the intercourse between inhabitants of large cities. One way consists in an increase of transportation facilities between remote parts of the city. Another way consists in contracting distances by pulling down such suburbs as are built at too great a distance from the central part of the city and compelling the inhabitants to take up their abodes within the narrower city limits. Little as the latter plan may be appreciated by free Americans, the municipality of the city of Belgrade, in Servia, has passed a resolution that one of the distant suburbs shall be demolished and the inhabitants compelled to look for shelter inside of the city proper. Their houses shall be appraised by a public commission and the price paid to the people, who will be under the necessity of buying expensive lots in the city for which they will not have money enough. Ruin stares them in the face. They offer strenuous opposition to the measure and it is hoped they may still succeed in obviating its execution.

MRS. LIZZIE YOUNG, a negro woman of Jacksonville, Fla., is said to have established quite a draying business in that city. She owns three drays and employs from twenty to thirty more when occasion requires. She pays each drayman one dollar and fifty cents a day, calling fourteen loads a day's work. At present she is employed in hauling away the sand from the excavation on the government lot, and so far has sold every particle of the sand dug out. Mrs. Young knows by face and name every drayman in her employ. But draying is not her only business. For six months every year this enterprising young woman runs an extensive wood yard at North Springfield and four or five teams are kept busy delivering wood. She sells, besides, many hundred dollars' worth of pork every year and does a good trade in poultry and eggs.

A "CONUNDRUM SOCIABLE" is a new western idea. Besides being amusing, it is claimed that the compound conundrums proposed stimulate the memory. As an illustration, the Detroit Free Press gives the following: "Why is Heaven like a baby? Because Heaven is home, home is where the heart is, where the heart is is the chest, a chest is a box, a box is a small tree, a small tree is a bush, a bush is a growing plant, a growing plant is a beautiful thing, a beautiful thing is a primrose, the primrose is a pronounced yeller, and a pronounced yeller is a baby."

AS PERTINENT to the highway improvement question, a writer in the last number of the Engineering Magazine estimates that ninety per cent. of the roads of the country could be equipped with tracks and wires for the employment of electric motive power for three thousand five hundred dollars a mile. He would divide the country up into districts ten miles square and have one central power station to serve each district. A capitalization of about five dollars an acre with an annual interest of thirty cents an acre would suffice to carry out the project.

ONE-FIFTH of the married women of Massachusetts are, according to recent statistics, childless. It is said that in no country save France can a similar condition of affairs be found. On the other hand, instead of over 20 per cent. only 13.27 per cent. of the foreign-born women of Massachusetts are childless. What is true of this state is undoubtedly in a greater or less degree true throughout the country.

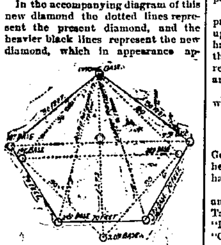
THE DIAMOND CHANGE

THE RADICAL STEP AS AT FIRST PROPOSED.

The Good and Bad Points as Seen Through the Editorial Eyes of the Sporting Life—Consequences of the Adoption.

OF THE PROPOSED new baseball diamond, the Sporting Life has this to say in a recent issue: This proposed new diamond is the creation of Mr. Cliff B. Spencer of Rolla, Mo., who furnishes the diagram and specifications. It was first submitted to the Chicago Club and then turned over to the Sporting Life by President Hart with earnest request for publication and comment.

In the accompanying diagram of this new diamond the dotted lines represent the present diamond, and the heavier black lines represent the new diamond, which in appearance approaches nearer the true diamond form than what is now designated as a diamond, although really a square.



THE NEW DIAMOND.

The proposed new diamond is a startling innovation, but the more it is studied the more favorably it impresses. The new diamond provides for a home base and four additional bases instead of three as now. This extra base would not, however, necessitate an additional infielder unless it is desired to make the game ten men and ten innings, which increase has been repeatedly suggested for many years by some excellent critics. Under the new system four men could attend to the infield as now—the first basemen and second baseman taking care of their usual bases, the short stop becoming third basemen, while the present third baseman would be fourth baseman. A glance at the diagram will show that the new base lines would throw first and fourth bases about ten feet further out than the present base lines, thus making a very much larger area for fair balls, hereby increasing the batting very considerably, besides reducing the number of foul balls.

It will be observed that the distances from second base to third base and from third base to fourth base are each but 70 feet. This would give the base-runners better chance of stealing bases. It is true, the catcher's throwing distance is decreased from about 128 or 129 feet to 120 or 122 feet, and he is in a better position to throw—the ball going diagonally across the diamond and there being no obstacle such as pitcher or umpire in the way. But the advantage would be still somewhat in favor of the runner, which is better than with the present dimensions, under which the ball, if properly handled, must inevitably and invariably beat the fleetest runner if the pitcher does not give him too much start.

Increased base-running would not, however, mean so many more runs as to make games seem tedious and scores look bad, because the distance from the plate to first base and from fourth base to the plate is still ninety feet and the entire circuit thirty feet more than the present circuit. Thus, while there would be more base-running on the short lines, the additional circuit distance, and the long distance between home and first and fourth and home, would operate against excessive run-scoring.

The palpable advantages of the proposed new diamond may be briefly summed up as follows:

Increased batting even with the pitchers in their present position.

A very marked decrease in the number of foul balls due to extended base lines and larger area for fair batted balls.

Increased base stealing with better opportunity for good plays by catchers, and with less wear and tear upon the throwing arms of catchers.

No decided disadvantages are apparent in this proposed new diamond except that it may operate to the extreme in batting, base-running and run-scoring. The first-named objection, could, however, be easily overcome by deadening the ball somewhat more should the batting become too heavy. The second and third defects may be neutralized by the greater opportunities afforded catchers for good throwing work and the increased length of the circuit of the bases.

The proposed new diamond, if adopted, would be a radical innovation. But it may be that a radical remedy is requisite to restore the baseball patient to entire health and vigor. It is generally conceded that some changes in the game are urgently needed in order to make it more attractive, to lift it out of the rut of pitcher domination into which it has fallen; in short that it is necessary to evolve some new feature to at once challenge and rivet public attention and favor. The proposed diamond would certainly achieve that much. The very novelty of it would arouse public attention and interest. But whether it would hold that interest permanently can only be ascertained by a trial of the place, which could be done in some of

If found satisfactory the new diamond might, and doubtless would, go a long way toward filling the baseball parks next season, as the novelty would bring out all the old-time lovers and patrons of the game, if only out of curiosity. Once back, the merits of the sport under new conditions might once more make these old-timers permanent patrons and enthusiasts, as of old. For the general public the innovation would also, for a time at least, serve as a magnet. The new diamond would also stir the amateur and semi-professional clubs and players into renewed activity everywhere. Last, but not least, the innovation would bring out many new points and complications in rules and practice, thus opening numberless avenues for discussion of the artistic side of the game, and keeping it constantly before the public in its best and brightest aspect.

Having shown in all fairness the apparent advantages and disadvantages of the proposed new diamond and the effects of its adoption, we submit the measure for the consideration of the press, public and magnates without further committing ourselves thereto.

It is not intended here to advocate, either reservedly or unreservedly, the adoption of this radical innovation, because there is another less radical method available for achieving pretty much the same beneficial effects that have been pointed out above as a probable result of the adoption of the proposed new diamond.

In perhaps our next issue we shall present at length and comment fully upon this other less radical and perhaps more certain method of placing the sport upon a permanent basis and restoring it to supreme popular favor and support.

The choice of methods will then rest with the magnates.

A hybrid between the black currant and the gooseberry has been produced by an English gardener. Its fruit resembles the black currant in size and a red gooseberry in color, has a hairy covering and is seedless. The flavor partakes of both the black currant and the gooseberry, being in the opinion of the originator, superior to either.

The speed of electricity is so great that its passage from point to point along a conducting wire may be regarded as practically instantaneous. Various attempts have been made to measure the rate at which it travels, and observers with delicate instruments, have affirmed that it was not less than 114,000 miles per second, and one or two place its speed as high as 240,000 miles.

The Phonograph,

Telephone, Telegraph, and kindred electrical messengers will all be utilized by the orders of SOZODONT which will be flashed and sounded over the wires. It is as well known abroad as at home, as a cleansing agent for the teeth.

Waste and Want.

A waste of flesh and a want of digestion. These go together. People who cannot assimulate the food they swallow must of necessity lose bodily substance. To remedy this, render digestion easy and thorough with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic famed the world over for its strength and flesh yielding qualities. Appetite and sleep are both impaired by indigestion, which begets nervous symptoms, heartburn, flatulence, irregularity of the bowels and palpitation of the heart—the latter often being erroneously attributed to disease of that organ. All these manifestations disappear when the bitters are resorted to. Malaria, rheumatism, liver and kidney trouble are effectually counteracted by this superb corrective, which is not only effectual but permanent.

THE separation of the young mineralogist, Verhoeff, from Peary's north pole party, and his supposed death, has given rise to much gossip and surmise, and is likely to develop into a scandal such as manages to attach itself to all recent arctic expeditions. The next thing will be the organization of a party to hunt Verhoeff. While on the way it will succeed in losing or killing one of its members. Then another scandal will arise, and so on indefinitely. For all the good they do, the public could well afford to dispense with such expeditions. Certainly, it would gladly be rid of the apparently inevitable petty gossip that follows each one.

ABOUT RAILWAYS.

Rare Relics of Ancient Days Found in Lakeside.

A Chapter of Accidents, Incidents and Personal Gossip as Gathered by Our Reporter.

Charlie Stapleford, chief of the Nickel Plate car inspectors at this point, is the possessor of two relics of ancient days that would make the average relic hunter's heart beat with joy to own. These relics are a copper kettle and a bronze medal. They were unearthed by Mr. Henry Baker, father of Mrs. Stapleford, while digging a ditch on his farm in 1870, upon a part of which is Lakeside. The ground from whence they came was occupied about 100 years ago by a British fort, built at that point because it afforded a good view of the several "fords" on the rivers. The medal was evidently placed in the kettle with several dozen beads, and buried, for when discovered they were about four feet beneath the surface of the earth. The beads crumbled to ashes a few hours after being exposed to the air, but the kettle and medal were none the worse for their long confinement in mother earth. The kettle will hold about half a gallon, is oval in shape, with a small flat bottom and top. It is made out of hammered copper and there is not a single seam in it. The handle is put on with copper rivets and in style resembles the modern iron tea-kettle handle. The lid is also copper, and, like the body of the kettle, is hammered out of one piece of metal. The medal is made of brass and copper, is two and a half inches in diameter and about one-quarter inch thick at the center and one-eighth of an inch thick at the outer edge.

The inscriptions on the medal are Latin and like all dead languages will admit of several translations. The reporter has shown the medal to some of our greatest scholars and the translation as given below is the result. On one side of the medal is a raised head and shoulders of a prince and at either side of the figure the words "Guil. De Nesmond" and "Senatus Prince." As translated the inscription reads, "William of Nesmond, Prince of the Senate." On the opposite side of the medal is a carved altar and surrounding it the words: "Insuper Pietate Justi et Amore Conjugis," which is supposed to mean, "Imbued with the principles of piety, justice and love for his wife." Beneath the altar in Latin numericals is: "Died 1693." The name William De Nesmond does not appear in the American Cyclopedia, but there is the name Jean Baptiste de Nesmond, who lived in the early part of the eighteenth century, and who was a famous French teacher. In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries it was the custom among those holding high state and ecclesiastical positions to distribute memorials of the dead in this form. These medals were sacredly retained in the family of the deceased, and passed from one generation to the other as an honored heirloom. This medal undoubtedly came to America with a descendant of Guil. De Nesmond, but how it came to be buried on the banks of the St. Joe river nearly 100 years ago will probably never be known.

The kettle and its contents were exhumed a few feet from the junction of St. Joseph boulevard and Baker avenue, near the northern limit of Lakeside. Mr. Stapleford may consent to send them to the world's fair to be placed with Indiana's exhibit. They certainly would be interesting features of the exhibition.

BRIEF MENTION.

Strictly
Pure White Lead
is the Best Paint.

Care is necessary though, to obtain strictly pure, as the market is flooded with so-called Pure White Leads that in reality contain but very little white lead.

The following analyses of two of these misleading brands show the exact proportion of genuine white lead they contain. The analyses describe the labels and brands on the packages and give the contents as follows:

"English. The Royal Manufacturing Co. Ground fine in linseed oil. Any person or persons found imitating this lead or label will be subject to a fine of £50 for each offence. White Lead."

Materials	Proportions	Analyzed by
Barytes	40.21 per cent.	Ledoux & Co., New York.
Oxide of Zinc	58.11 per cent.
White Lead	1.26 per cent.

Materials	Proportions	Analyzed by
Oxide of Zinc	55.70 per cent.	Ledoux & Co., New York.
Barytes	44.30 per cent.

We have a book which gives the analyses of eighty different misleading brands. If you are going to paint it will pay you to send for it.

It will only cost a postal card to get it, it may save you many a dollar.

Dr. Wm. T. Ferguson lectured on temperance topics last evening before the prohibition club. The audience was small but the discourse was an admirable one. Dr. Ferguson stated that it was his belief that the so called institutes for the cure of drunkenness were a great damage to the temperance cause, insomuch as they lead men to think the whisky habit was a disease and curable by medicine. The doctor said that God was the only agent who could entirely drive a drunkard from his cups and the gospel was the best medicine.

The patrons of the Masonic Temple will this evening witness a rare comedy treat. Other heads are to fall from the police force, says Chief Wilkinson.

The attention of the street commissioner is called to the frightful condition of the Columbia street bridge. At the present time there is at least three inches of soft mud on the floor of the bridge, and when vehicles pass over, which is the case every few minutes, pedestrians cannot pass along without being splashed over with mud. He would also confer a favor if he would dig the plank crossing at the corner of Clay and Columbia streets out from under the six inches of mud which now covers it, and thus make a decent point of access to Lakeside.

The Huntington Democrat says: "At the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Jas. Ainslie, in Fort Wayne, Thursday, December 22, will occur the marriage of Mr. Galo T. Parry to Miss Kate S. Mills. This announcement will create no little surprise in this city, where Mr. Parry formerly lived, and where he was on the list as a confirmed bachelor. He is a young man of sterling qualities, square as the day is long and he has the heartiest good wishes of his host of friends here. Miss Mills, with whom he will link fortunes, is handsome and accomplished. She is a niece of Rev. Ainslie." WITH the aid or under the influence of "pluck," using that term in a modern sense and in relation to the daily heroism of life in the midst of difficulties, it is possible not only to surmount what appear to be insuperable obstructions, but to defy and repel the enmities of climate, adverse circumstances and even disease. Many a life has been saved by the moral courage of a sufferer. It is not alone in bearing the pain of operations or the misery of confinement in a sick-room that this self-help becomes of vital moment, but in the monotonous tracking of a weary path and the vigorous discharge of ordinary duty.

THERE seems to be very little probability that Mr. Edwin Booth will ever return to the stage. Should this be the case, the world will lose the greatest actor of modern times, the best interpreter of works of Shakspeare the stage has ever seen. To his inheritance of stage talent he added hard, intelligent and painstaking study, and an experience which, beginning in boyhood, lasted for a long lifetime. With all the traditions of the stage he was familiar, and even when his strength had almost failed him, his genius was apparent in all he did. It will be many a day before the stage looks upon his like again.

THE Russian bear has a sort of a double-Nelson on the British lion apparently, for he twists his tail about into all sorts of aggravated convolutions with glee and impunity. The latest twist is the seizure by Russia of $76,000 worth of Canadian sealing schooners at Copper island, Behring sea. The old beast of Britain is, to all appearances, a victim to the somnolence of age—a dangerous condition for a lion that hasn't taken the trouble to make friends during the halcyon days of his vigor and power.

A GRAND JURY in Connecticut has indicted a night telegraph operator for criminal carelessness in having caused a wreck. His case is deemed particularly worthy of rebuke for that he was on duty only eleven hours, seven days each week, and was paid $1.50 per diem by a railroad company that chose to be reckless in liberality rather than in the declaring of dividends.
